

To FCC:

I first acquired XM radio over two years ago and have become exclusively reliant on their services and programming. I pay for this service and I listen to what I choose. I do not expect and will not support persons or organizations telling me what I can or cannot listen too. The traffic and weather broadcasting is an important feature to my needs with XM radio and for the life of me I cannot imagine a person or organization telling another who can inform others of traffic and weather.
